

Simple

Chapter 1 by RunningOwl13

The world is not as simple as we thought it was. No, the world is large, and round, that we know, but there are so many things we don't know. We know that the world is 71% water, but will that ever decrease? Increase? Will the world as we know it today disappear? No, the world is not simple.

Chapter 2 by .l.a.

Inside this world, there they are. Outside this world, they are. They are invisible to the human eye, yet they are the most important part of this end of the galaxy. They rule over humans, but no one had discovered that until 2083. Of course, they are hard to find, and an urban myth in some parts.

They control everything, everyone. They plan peoples' lives, they plan wars between countries, they plan heat waves, floods, rain and snow, but most of all, they plan history.
